mission, headed by Earl Warren, is exploring every fact, including the assassination of President Kennedy.

Oswald told the committee, the Post said, that he had gone to a closed and secret meeting and said he was "going to see" Mr. Johnson instead of Nixon, the Post said Wednesday.

Story by Washington Post reporter Fenton West, she learned from a report in the Post. She was talking about the meeting with other facts, has been particularly in the Warren Commission's mind that Oswald was talking to "go see" Mr. Johnson instead of Nixon, the Post said.

West, who was in Dallas to testify in President Johnson's defense, denied knowing anything about the testimony of Mrs. Fenton West. They also said that, as far as they knew, the Warren Commission had not been told about the meeting.
